

Maximize your impact

UBS Philanthropy Services

Welcome to UBS Philanthropy Services

We are a unique, award-winning¹ offering that partners with you and your family to manage your philanthropy and maximize your impact. We provide comprehensive advice, insight experiences, and execution services, and employ an investment-based approach to deliver solutions to pressing social and environmental issues.

The UN-sponsored Principles for Responsible Investment (PRI) estimate that it takes between $5 trillion and $7 trillion per year² to achieve the UN's Sustainable Development Goals³. Even if philanthropic commitment increases⁴, it is essential that philanthropists give more effectively, that they act on a large scale and that they collaborate to reach these goals.

Working with clients locally, nationally and globally, we identify high potential initiatives and build long-term collaborations, connecting you with the resources and expertise you need to achieve significant, sustainable change. Our in-house foundation focuses on issues including health, education and protection of children – as these are some of the most effective funding areas for a lasting future – and pioneers new social finance models of giving, such as development impact bonds. By offering direct access to these opportunities and networks, we enable you to tap into cutting edge advice, practical support and a community of like-minded peers.

Whatever your philanthropic goals may be – from tackling a specific disease or protecting the environment through to giving something back – we are here to provide you with the expertise and support to maximize your impact. By understanding how and where your resources can do the most good, you can give with more confidence and make your philanthropic journey even more rewarding for you and your family.

⁴ Extrapolation based on Giving USA 2018: The Annual Report on Philanthropy for the year 2017 which shows that donations in the United States were USD 410 billion in 2017, up by 5.2% since 2016.

An innovative approach to giving

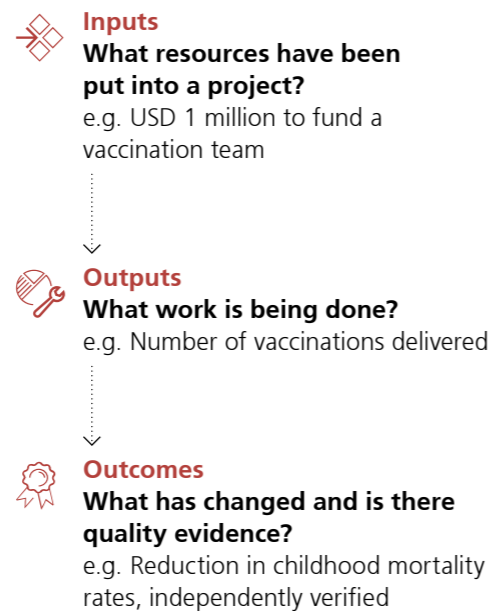

One of the key factors that sets UBS Philanthropy Services apart is the way we apply the same rigor and resources to philanthropy that UBS uses for traditional investing. This robust, evidence-led approach has the dual effect of maximizing the impact your philanthropic funding can have and reducing the chance of causing harm.

Avoiding harm

The first objective with any philanthropic activity should be to avoid harm. This recognizes that poorly directed donations can do more than simply waste money; they can damage the people and communities they were intended to help. For example, poorly distributed insecticide-treated nets that ended up being used for fishing – instead of fighting malaria – put people and fish stocks at risk⁵. In another case, heavily promoted and funded water pumping merry-go-rounds failed to work as water pumps because children lost interest in them, they were difficult for adults to use, and were expensive to install and maintain⁶.

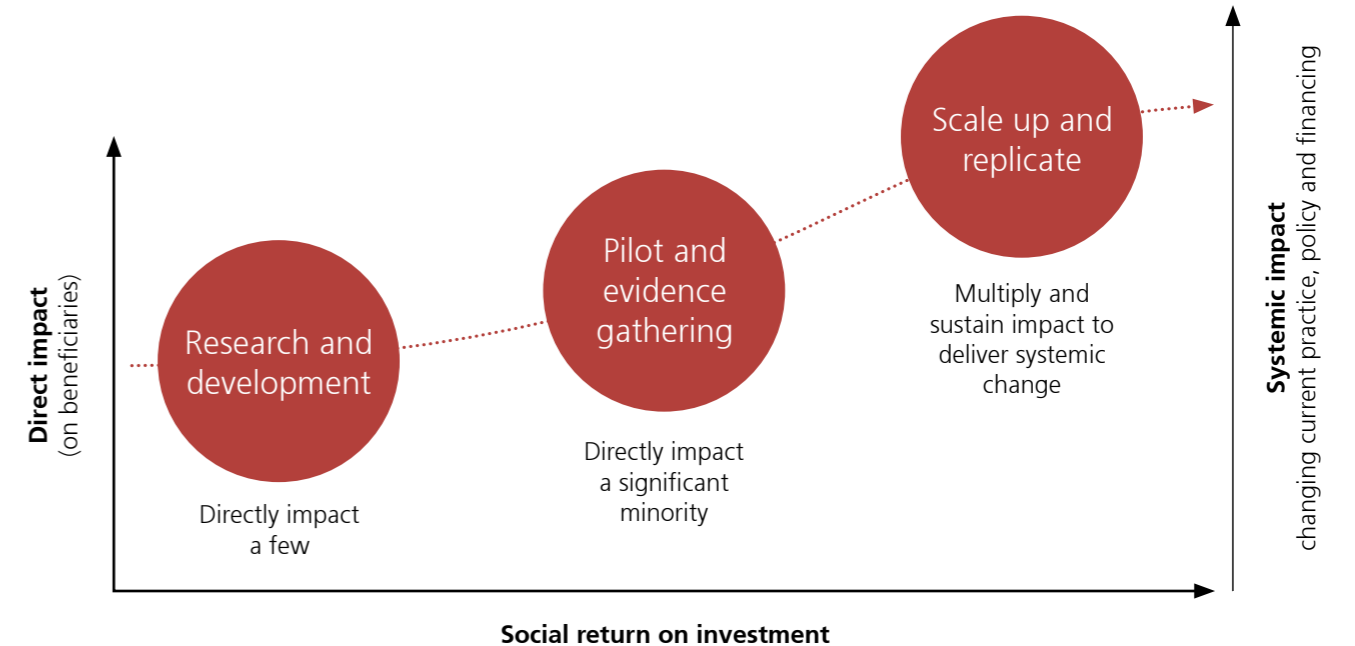

Driving measurable outcomes

Another key tenet of our investment-focused model is measurability – we track and quantify impact to guide all our decision-making, whether at the point of making an initial funding or when deciding the right moment to exit.

Scaling up to deliver systemic change

At the heart of our approach is an understanding that for a philanthropic initiative to generate the highest social return, it must be something that can be scaled up and replicated to the point where it can deliver systemic change.

Solving the world's most pressing social and environmental issues

Ending poverty, improving health and education, tackling climate change, spurring economic growth – there are many social and environmental problems that need to be urgently addressed.

The UN has established 17 Sustainable Development Goals that it describes as an 'urgent call for action' for all countries, both developing and developed. Yet with a USD 2.5 trillion annual investment funding gap, it is clear that a new, more collaborative approach is necessary. We believe that philanthropy at scale is best placed to catalyze the profound change required to meet these goals.

 1 billion people have no access to healthcare

 CO₂ emissions have risen by c.50% since 1990

 783 million people live beneath the international poverty line

The UBS Philanthropy Services platform

Developed over more than two decades, our platform provides access to the guidance and resources to manage your giving in the most efficient way while ensuring that it is doing the most good. It is based on three core pillars: comprehensive advice, insight experiences and execution services.

A global viewpoint

UBS Philanthropy Services connects you to an international network of expertise and support. With a team of more than 50 philanthropy experts in 12 locations, we can support you wherever your philanthropic objectives lead. We work closely with government bodies such as the Swiss State Secretariate for Economic Affairs (SECO), the United States Agency for International Development (USAID) and the Department for International Development (DIFID) in the UK, and alongside academic institutions such as Zurich, Oxford, Stanford and Harvard universities. This breadth and depth of know-how makes sure that every piece of advice we offer is informed by the latest thinking and a clear understanding of the main challenges in each location.

Support and guidance on every aspect of philanthropic giving

We provide comprehensive advice to clients and their families, whatever their philanthropic goals. So whether you are considering establishing your first charitable structure or wanting to review your current philanthropic portfolio, our team of experts is ready to help.

As in business, we need to find the right business model, evidence, partnerships and leadership to be successful. To do that, we take a disciplined, investment-like approach designed to minimize negative outcomes and maximize impact at scale.

A framework to drive impactful philanthropy:

Strategy

What are my and my family's broad objectives?

Structure

Do I have the right giving vehicle?

Situation

What problems or issues would I like to address?

Solutions

How can I identify the projects that work and are cost-effective?

Sustainability

How can I sustain or exit from my investment?

Scale

Can the solution be scaled to maximize reach and impact?

We want you to be able to make the best-informed decisions about your philanthropy, and a key way we do that is by connecting people and providing insight through our global network. This can be anything from a report on the latest charitable giving trends through to an invitation to a networking event with fellow philanthropists.

Networking and ideas to optimize your strategy

Events

We host a number of philanthropy-themed events each year. Featuring insights from our own experts and other leading industry figures, they include our Philanthropy Forum series which explores the latest topics from across the sector.

Thought-leadership reports

Every year, we publish thought-leadership materials to bring you insights on everything from global trends to new giving initiatives. Based on research drawn from our UBS network and often produced in tandem with our academic partners, our publications include The Global Philanthropy Report, the most comprehensive analysis to date of philanthropic practices and trends.

UBS's Global Philanthropists Community

The Global Philanthropists Community is an exclusive members-only network supported by UBS. Though a private online portal and dedicated gatherings, it connects active philanthropists who share similar interests.

Philanthropy Insights Trips

Hosted by UBS Optimus Foundation, our insights trips offer the chance to see first-hand the projects we carefully selected. Travelling with fellow philanthropists, you will meet frontline workers and beneficiaries, understand the challenges they seek to overcome, and see the impact the projects have. These trips are a great opportunity to share ideas and experiences and shape your plans. They are also a good way to show younger members of your family how wealth and philanthropy can make the world better.

Some quotes from clients who have joined our Insight trips:

"The projects were all amazing and really worthwhile to see, especially with background and in-depth discussions from founders and project directors." – UK client

"The experience was inspiring, fun, informative, productive, and well-organized. The session with former President Ellen Johnson Sirleaf, and the mere fact that she took time to join us, is ample testament to the reputation you've all built for UBS Optimus Foundation." – US client

"It was a real pleasure meeting you and sharing these intense moments with you...We had an exceptionally pleasant and informative trip and we will long be marked by what we saw. Thanks to you, everything was perfectly timed, went smoothly, and, seemingly, so easily – a real challenge, I am sure." – Swiss client

In-house solutions to help you realize plans and scale impact

We offer a number of execution services, giving you flexible options on how you manage your philanthropic giving. They include structures which make it easier and more cost-effective to put your strategy into practice.

Donor-Advised Foundation

As a Donor-Advised Foundation (DAF), the UBS Philanthropy Foundation offers you an effective alternative to setting up your own independent charitable foundation.

A Sub-Foundation under the umbrella of the UBS Philanthropy Foundation is easy to set up and offers you the possibility to invest donated funds in selected UBS discretionary mandates. By letting us know your preferred investment approach, the donations to the Sub-Foundation can be invested in the best possible way to subsequently use them for your desired grant-making activities. Charitable grants can then be made at a later stage.

Please speak with your UBS contact to find out if the DAF is available in your region.

The UBS Optimus Foundation

The Foundation connects you with inspiring entrepreneurs, new technologies and proven models that are making a measurable, long-term difference to the most serious and enduring social and environmental problems. UBS Optimus Foundation has a long track record and is recognized globally as a philanthropic thought-leader.

We take an evidence-based approach and focus on programs that have the potential to be transformative, scalable and sustainable. This gives you the reassurance that you are funding innovative projects that have a stronger chance of achieving all-important systemic change. UBS also makes matching contributions to the Foundation, ensuring that your donations will go even further.

Our key focus areas:

- Health: frontline health, safe surgery and pediatric cancer
- Education: education in displacement, skills for social mobility and scale delivery innovation
- Protection: anti-child trafficking and slavery, and families not orphans
- Environment*: conservation, oceans and climate change

Collective Portfolios

Our managed Collective Portfolios allow you to invest in a readymade 'fund' of child health, education or protection programs that we have selected for their impact and scalability. As well as being a fast and easy route to investing, this is an excellent way to leverage your giving power with that of the wider UBS community.

Creating a tailored portfolio

If you are passionate about an issue we are not already working on, we can develop a tailored portfolio that leverages our expertise to identify impactful and sustainable solutions anywhere in the world. Our in-house team will manage the process – from strategy and due diligence to reporting and contracting – at no additional cost to you.

Making your giving go further

We collaborate with our extensive network of global partners to generate matched funding, leveraging donations you make. Also, UBS covers all costs of UBS Optimus Foundation, making sure that 100% of client money goes directly to fund the important work of improving lives.

Sustainable and Impact investing

You can also use your investments in a broad sense to reach your goals. This will make sure that environmental and social issues, for example, can be factored into your investment decision-making and shape the make-up of your portfolio.

UBS Philanthropy in action

Health

World Child Cancer

A UBS Optimus Foundation partner.*

A model for diagnosis and treatment of childhood cancer in Africa.

Problem

Childhood cancer is largely curable – in developed countries, more than 80 percent of children survive. Yet in the developing world, survival rates are as low as 10 percent due to a lack of trained healthcare workers specializing in childhood cancer care and low awareness of the symptoms. As more children survive early childhood, the number of children who develop cancer in sub-Saharan Africa is likely to rise considerably over the next generation⁷.

Response

To improve the quality of cancer care for children, World Child Cancer will develop West Africa's first Center of Excellence for pediatric oncology. It will provide a regional training hub for pediatric oncologists across sub-Saharan Africa, with high-quality facilities and improved skills acting as a model to demonstrate how childhood cancer can be treated successfully and cost-effectively in similar settings.

Planned impact

- Increase one-year survival rates to 70%
- Provide access to improved pediatric oncology services for over 2,000 children in Ghana
- Meet increasing demand for cancer treatment in the region

Education

The Luminos Fund

A UBS Optimus Foundation partner.*

Finding new ways to give out-of-school children a second chance.

Problem

In Ethiopian Government schools, the pupil/teacher ratio is 55:1⁸. Lebanon, which has a population of 6.8 million⁹, is hosting at least 244,000¹⁰ out-of-school children from Syria, adding strain to an already over-burdened public school system. In Liberia, civil war and the Ebola outbreak have contributed to the second-highest rate of out-of-school children in the world, with 56%¹¹ of primary-school-age children not attending.

Response

The Luminos Fund has developed best-in-class education innovations to help the children in greatest need. A key innovation is the Speed School – a three-pronged solution that provides children who have been kept out of school a second chance at an education. This innovative child-centric teaching uses activity-based learning methods to cover the first three years of the national curriculum in just 10 months.

Impact

- The Luminos Fund reached 14,250 children in Ethiopia in 2017, 3,600 in Lebanon by 2019 and will reach 40,000 in Liberia by 2022
- It will help them to enter the formal education system and will also engage family members and educators

Protection

Hope and Homes for children

A UBS Optimus Foundation partner.*

Bringing children back home.

Problem

There are an estimated 2.7 million children in residential care, and a great many of them are not orphans¹². Neglect experienced in such institutions has been shown to impair brain development and can lead to severe cognitive and behavioral deficits¹³.

Response

Hope and Homes helps institutions to transition children to family-based care where they can grow up in a safe and loving environment, while the institutions themselves are transformed to provide support to these families and communities. As well as working with governments to directly implement its model in countries such as South Africa and Rwanda, Hope and Homes is also building the capacity of other organizations such as Child's Foundation in Uganda and Forget Me Not in Nepal.

Planned impact

- End the use of institutional care for children aged 0–3 years across 129 institutions in the Gauteng Province, South Africa
- Train 500 foster care families who will be registered in a foster care bank
- Transition more than 6,000 children in institutions into family-based care
- Develop capacity of social workers to monitor well-being of children in families
- Repurpose institutions to provide support to children in families and communities

Social finance

Championing initiatives that maximize impact

UBS Optimus Foundation has been a pioneer in the social finance space. This approach seeks 'impact' first, and often entails greater financial risk than investing in mainstream assets. In fact, impact bonds or loans for impact are a way to drive financial returns that are directly linked to actual social impact.

Social finance is best suited for clients who seek an ultimate impact from their capital that is strongly aligned with the goals of the investment.

An example

Development Impact Bonds (DIBs) are results-based contracts in which private investors provide financing for social programs on a pay-for-performance basis. Outcome funders, like USAID, pay back the principal plus a return if the program delivers externally evaluated social outcomes. At scale, outcome funding has the potential to better utilize donor and government funding by shifting risk to private funders and allowing outcome funders to only pay if results are achieved.
